

Moreno Bonda is Associate Professor at the Kaunas Technological University and Lecturer at Vytautas Magnus University. Historian and philologist – he graduated at the University of Turin, Italy, and earned his Ph.D. at VMU – M. Bonda teaches history of historiography and recently delivered a series of lessons on the subject “language and identity” at VDU Italian Studies programme. He devotes his research to the philosophy of language in early modern Europe focusing on the relation between language (with particular interest for the mathematical one) and historical knowledge.