

Aiste Ptakauskė is a published author and creative content producer who successfully works across media and continents. She authored a collection of short stories and two best-selling novels for young adults, wrote five television shows, and made two documentaries. Ethnic Kitchen, Aiste Ptakauskė's documentary about immigrant women in post-Soviet independent Lithuania, is included into curricula at several European universities. Aiste Ptakauskė is a winner of many prestigious national and international awards including an Augustinas Gričius Prize for the Best Fiction Debut in Lithuania, a Fulbright scholarship, and an Iconic Women Creating a Better World for All award from the Women Economic Forum. She is also a founder of The Ethnic Kitchen Productions, a boutique development company that produces socially relevant audiovisual and cross media projects.